Where the Money Came From

The Town of Payson breaks its revenues into two major categories; program revenues and general revenues. Program revenues are charges for services, fees, fines, grants and contributions that are clearly identifiable to an operating function. General revenue is money the Town receives that is not clearly identifiable to a particular function. Examples of general revenue include sales tax, property tax, franchise fee, state shared revenue, and auto lieu taxes.

The following chart illustrates the total revenue that the Town of Payson received from 7/1/08 to 6/30/09; it is broken out by percentage as to the type of revenue received.

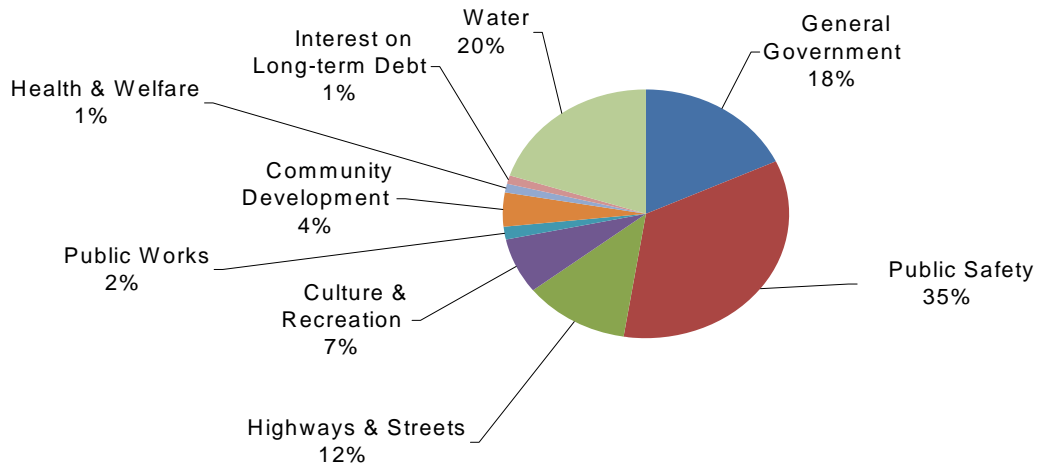

*Where the Money Came From
During the Period 7/1/08 – 6/30/09*

The chart below shows a comparison of the Town's revenue for the last three fiscal years. Overall, revenue has been decreasing due to the slowdown in the economy that has resulted in lower fees, fines, sales taxes and interest earnings.

The Town of Payson, as well as all other Arizona cities remains dependent on local sales taxes and state shared revenue for resources. These revenue sources are sensitive to economic downturns and legislative appropriations.

Where the Money Went

For reporting purposes, the departments within the Town of Payson are often categorized by function. For example, public safety includes both the police and fire departments. The following pie chart shows how the Town's money was spent during the fiscal year of July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2009:

*Where the Money Went
7/1/08 – 6/30/09*

Where the Money Went – Last Three Years

Over the past year, expenses increased most significantly in Public Safety, General Government and Water. Public Safety expenditures increased by $436,454 due primarily to a software purchase, implementing a STEPS pay plan, and an increase in the Town's Arizona Public Safety Retirement System contributions. General Government expenditures increased primarily due to expenses related to laid-off employees, a software purchase and an increase in the Town's Arizona State Retirement System contributions.

The Town's "business type" operation (Water Division) is designed to recover 100% of their costs, including debt payments and depreciation. Expenses in the Water Fund increased this year as a result of increased investment in the C.C. Cragin pipeline project.

The Town of Payson's Financial Position on June 30th

The Town's statement of net assets provides a "snapshot" of where we stood financially on June 30th, the last day of our fiscal year. Net assets represent the Town's ownership (equity) in the assets within its possession.

Assets represent what the Town owns. Current and other assets include cash, investments, and receivables (money due to the Town). Capital assets are land, buildings, infrastructure, water system, vehicles, machinery, and equipment. They are broken down into two categories: non-depreciable (land) and depreciable (all other capital assets).

Liabilities represent what the Town owes. Current and other liabilities consist of payables (money due from the Town to pay what it owes). Non-current liabilities represent debt that the Town must pay back and is broken out into the current year and future years.

Net assets may serve over time as useful indicators of a government's financial position and consist of three components. The largest portion of the Town of Payson, Arizona's net assets reflects its investment in capital assets (e.g. land, buildings, infrastructure, water system, vehicles, machinery, and equipment), less any outstanding related debt used to acquire those assets. The Town uses these capital assets to provide services to citizens; consequently, these assets are not available for future spending. Although the Town's investment in its capital assets is reported net of related debt, it should be noted that the resources needed to repay this debt must be provided from other sources, since the capital assets themselves cannot be used to liquidate these liabilities. An additional portion of net assets represents resources that are subject to external restrictions. The remaining balance or unrestricted net asset may be used to meet the government's ongoing obligations to citizens and creditors.

The chart below depicts the Town's assets, liabilities, and net assets as they were at June 30th in each of the last three years (restated in 2007 and 2008). At the end of the three fiscal years, the Town of Payson, Arizona is able to report positive balances in all three categories of net assets for the government as a whole.
