

Disaster Recovery State Website: One-Stop Shop for Info on Available Resources

Governor Malloy launched a new state website this week designed to be a one-stop portal for residents, businesses, and municipalities to gain information about services available in the aftermath of natural disasters and other emergencies, such as available federal and state grants.

Local officials are encouraged to click on CTrecovers.ct.gov and learn the latest information and assistance available to towns and cities.

Information already posted on the website: the Connecticut Department of Labor has been awarded a $1.8 million federal grant to support training and temporary employment of young adults to assist with Super Storm Sandy recovery.

Eligibility and application information for this funding, and others, is available at the new website at CTrecovers.ct.gov.
