

Thank You!

Good Samaritans and helpful neighbors are key components for a thriving community. We greatly appreciate your willingness to help someone during their time of need until our personnel arrived on scene. Unfortunately some of these incidents can be tragic and have unfavorable outcomes. Incident bystanders may struggle to cope with their experience of these potentially traumatic events. If you're experiencing any signs or symptoms relative to post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), or simply need to speak to someone to help put things into perspective, don't hesitate to contact someone! These emotions are normal and there are numerous resources available. The QR code located on the back of this card will link you to some of those valuable resources.
